WIDOW SOUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH KILLING

Mrs. Catherine Faber Is Indicted On Charge Of Murder.

CASE IS MYSTERY

Death Of Lakewood Publisher Implicates His Widow.

Cleveland, O., June 2.—Search is being conducted today in New York and Canada for Mrs. Catherine Kaber widow of Daniel F. Kaber, Lakewood publisher, who was killed July 18, 1919, following her indictment late yesterday on a murder charge by the Cuyahoga county grand jury.

With her indictment county officials here believe that they are on the way to the solution of one of the most baffling murder mysteries in the history of the United States but the strange disappearance of the suspect three weeks ago in New York leaving no apparent trace, does not promise an early court airing in the facts of the case.

Kaber was stabbed to death at his Lakewood home. Eighteen wounds inflicted with a stiletto-like file were found on his body. For three months prior to his death he had been a bedridden invalid and in the care of a male nurse, E. W. Utterback. The other occupants of the house on the night of the crime were Miss Marion McArdle, a daughter of Mrs. Kaber by a former marriage; a chum, Miss Anna Baehr, and Mrs. J. A. Brackel, Mrs. Kaber's mother. Mrs. Kaber was said to have been at Cedar Point.
The wounded man was removed to Lakewood hospital, where he died during the morning hours. Before his death, he made a statement that "a man with a cap" did it, and implicated a "woman." A post mortem investigation revealed enough arsenic in his stomach to kill three men, according to the statement of authorities at the time.

Conduct Investigation
An investigation was conducted by city authorities of Lakewood and county officials but no indictments were returned.

Some time afterwards, Mrs. Kaber left Lakewood, making her home in New York. While county officials turned their attention to later crimes without the baffling elements of this one, members of the dead publisher's family took up the search and with the aid of detectives attempted to unravel the skein which had resulted in Kaber's death.

According to evidence adduced before the grand jury, a woman operative for a detective agency secured a position in Mrs. Kaber's home in New York where she went after her husband's death, and it is upon statements made by this woman that the grand jury voted the indictment.
For twenty-two months the widow was not permitted to get out of sight of the employe of her dead husband's family, but about three weeks ago, according to statements made, she disappeared and no trace of her has since been found. She is believed to be either in New York or Canada, and a continent-wide alarm was sent out this morning by Prosecutor Edward C.
Stanton, asking for her arrest.

While living in Lakewood, Mrs. Ka-ber was prominent in charitable work, being the founder of the Marion Home for Young Business Women, named in honor of her daughter. She was also one of the organizers of the Rosedale home established for working mothers where they might leave their children while employed. Another of her pet activities was the care of unmarried mothers, and she was a prominent member of the Florence Crittenton circle, which supported the home here for them.

MOVEMENT TOWARD LOWER BANK RATES WILL BE STARTED

Washington, June 2.—A movement for a general lowering of bank rates will be initiated by the federal reserve banks during the summer months, it was officially announced today.

Easier money conditions make it advisable for lower bank rates, it is officially stated.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, discussing the credit situation, declared that gradual improvement is being shown.

Penalizing rates, for banks which are forced to draw upon the reserve banks for more than their allotments are to be removed, it also is announced. This is in line with an announcement from the White House that western and southern producers have been hampered because of the weight of these penalizing rates has been passed on to the grower by banks.

FUND UP TO $1,200,000.

of $100,000 from the General Education Board of New York, announced by President Alderman, brought the centennial endowment fund of the University of Virginia up to $1,200,- 000.

PROBE OF AMERICAN'S DEATH ORDERED BY MEXICAN OFFICIALS

Mexico City, June 2.—The Mexican authorities today ordered a rigorous investigation of the assassination of Elmer Buchanan, an American near Tampico and stern punishment of the bandits responsible. Buchanan was employed on the ranch of
A. M. Barkley, 10 miles north of Tampico. It is believed that other Americans were wounded.

GERMANY'S NEW ECONOMIC PLAN IS UNPOPULAR

Reactionary Section of German Press Attacks Program.

POLICY ANNOUNCED

Chancellor Wirth Sums Up
Germany's Needs Before
Reichstag

Berlin, June 2.—Chancellor Wirth's new economic program for Germany was bitterly attacked by the reactionary section of the German press today. The Deutsche Zeitung referred to it as "a program of phrases" and Rundschau spoke of Chancellor Wirth's "air castles" while the Kreuz Zeitung accused the chancellor of "conducting a nauseating courtship with the 'allies.'"

On the other hand the Democratic Morgenpost and the Tageblatt, praised the program as constructive.
The socialist organs and the Frei-heit, the communist organ "regretted" that the chancellor's message to the people "was neither clear nor specific."

Chancellor Wirth addressing the reichstag on the subject Wednesday announced the new financial policy and summed up Germany's needs in the following four phrases:

Intensive industry.
Intensive agriculture.
Maximum efficiency.
Unprecedented economy.

Germany will not attempt to float any loans but will pay as she goes.

"In summarizing our new program, there are three points upon which we must concentrate our efforts: understanding, reconstruction and reconciliation," said the chancellor.

"We purpose to tax stock speculation and to carry out in full the present tax laws. The indirect taxes on luxuries are to be increased and the payment of more paper marks in great number will be prevented. There must be greater production and thrift must become rigid."

There must be more efficiency in agriculture. Motor tractors must supplant horses on the farm. Cultivation of our agricultural areas must be intensive. We tax coal and domestic sales. It is impossible to make new loans so we must meet the yearly budget by paying as we go."

"It is impossible to reimburse German exporters for the whole tax of 26 percent levied by the allied indemnity ultimatum so the Germans must take advantage of the mark value in exchanges, the chancellor pointed out.

Chancellor Wirth said that Germany is at present carrying out the disarmament demands of the allies
"to the letter."

FIRST WOMAN TO GET INDUSTRIAL
POST IS OHIOAN

Rose Moriarty of Cleveland was recently appointed by Governor Davis to the Ohio industrial commission. She is the first woman ever to hold a position on this commission or any similar commission in the country. Miss Moriarty has long been a leader in Republican affairs, both in the city and state.
Her position will carry a salary of $6,000 a year.

lumbus.

Biggest Road Building Job In Ohio Under Way

Thirty Miles of Highway Between Wooster and Democracy, Knox County, Part of Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati Road to be Built by Convicts.

Columbus, O., June 2.—The biggest and hardest road building job in the history of Ohio is under way. This announcement was made by State Highway Commissioner Herick.
Major Adolf Stelhorn, engineer in the state highway department, has taken charge of the construction of 30 miles of highway between Wooster and Democracy, Knox county. This roadway, which will form part of the Cleveland-Cincinnati highway, will cost, it is estimated $2,250,000.
Under close guard, 750 penitentiary prisoners will help build the highway which will run through valleys, rav-ines, hills and rock formations. Passing through Loudonville, Ashland county, the road will cut through corners of Wayne, Holmes, Ashland and Knox counties.

The work will involve operation of the largest collection of equipment ever used outside the United States army, according to Commissioner Herrick. This equipment, valued at $1, 000,000 will include 48 tractors, over 75 big trucks and six large steam shovels obtained from the war department.

In a few days, 40 prisoners will build a camp south of Loudonville in Ashland county and one in Knox county. An office will be maintained at Loudonville. Construction of camp sites, grading and other preliminary work will be done this month. Major operations are scheduled to begin July first.

"HIDING" TOTS NEARLY DIE

For four terror-filled days, two babies hungered and struggled for breath in a closet four feet long and sixteen inches wide, and between long stretches of sleep cried the weary hours away. The tots were seven-year-old Harry Faber and Stella Weiner four years old.
They had been playing hide-and-seek in the neighborhood of their home in Paterson, N. J. Seeing a good place to hide they entered an empty apartment house and hid themselves in a closet in an empty room. The little girl who was
"it" rushed to closet door and slammed it, locking it automatically. The children were found four days later by two boys who retired to the apartment to play a quiet game of poker. Hearing a strange noise in the closet one of the boys flung the door open and the little boy who had been proped up against the single crevice in the panel in an effort to breathe fell out of the closet in an unconscious heap. The little girl was half conscious and lying on the floor of the tiny covert. The boy admitted that he had cried "a little bit," but that he mostly yelled and kicked the door and tried to soothe the saddened little companion of his solitude. All Paterson had been hunting for the missing children and now there is peace once again in the households.

Supreme Court Studying Evidence On Dunn Case

Assistant Attorney General Defends Position Of Legislature Pointing Out That Emergency Declarations Not Subject To Judicial Review.

Columbus, June 2.—Judges on the state supreme bench here today are studying the evidence submitted at the public hearing held relative to suits instituted by state Senator J. F.
Burke, Elyria, Republican and W. W.
Durbin, Kenton, chairman of the state executive committee, attacking the constitutionality of the emergency clause attached to the Dunn act providing for reorganization of state departments.

Defending the action of the Ohio legislature, Assistant Attorney General Clarence D. Laylin called attention to decisions announced by the supreme courts in South Dakota, Oregon and Oklahoma in which it is held that emergency declarations by state legislatures are not subject to judicial review. Attention, also, was directed to the opinion, rendered last week by the supreme court of Washington upholding as an emergency measure a reorganization act passed by the Washington legislature.

Counsel for the plaintiffs argued that if judicial review of declared emergencies is denied, popular res-

STRIKE MOVEMENT IN ARGENTINA IS BROKEN BY TROOPS

Buenos Aires, June 2.—The vigorous military preparations of the Argentine government appeared today to have broken the backbone of the general strike movement. General labor conditions already have begun to improve. There are indications that the strong measures taken as a result of the labor troubles have given a severe set back to trade unionism in this country. The strike of harbor workers continues in force.

STONE IS GIVEN SALARY INCREASE

Cleveland, June 2.—Warren S.
Stone, grand chief of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was given a salary increase from $14,500 to $25,000 annually at the closing session of the union's convention here.
Wage reductions ordered by the railway wage labor board at Chicago yesterday were not discussed. The convention adjourned sine die at an early hour this morning after being in session more than three weeks.

EX-KAISER NOW DESIRES PEACE IN HIS RETREAT

Correspondent Views the Former Emperor From Castle Wall.

REFUSES MEETING

Sees No One Since Death
Of His Wife—Wears
Beard

Doorn, June 2.—"Passport: mein herr," were the first words I heard in this little Dutch town, while on my way to attempt to get a glimpse of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm. They were uttered by two policemen, dressed in Dutch uniforms but who strangely resembled the German type of police officer.

After a careful scrutiny of my passport I was allowed to proceed towards the ex-kaiser's castle, although a sharp watch was kept on me and the camera I was carrying.

I had been told that it was practically impossible to get anywhere near the former ruler of Germany, but I decided that I would try my luck. I reached the monumental gates of the castle, where I was again held up by a German looking Dutch policeman.
Hurriedly, I scribbled a few words and asked one of the coppers to carry it to Marshal Von Gothard, the ex-kaiser's aide-de-camp. A few minutes later he came strolling down the magnificent avenues of the park surrounding the castle.

Marshal Von Gothard received me and pointed out to me the former kaiser did not receive any visitors since the recent death of his wife. But I was told that if I wanted to see Wilhelm without speaking to him I should be around at 8 o'clock in the morning.

The next morning at 8 o'clock I took up a waiting position near the garden wall. I had my camera with me. A few minutes later, a shrill whistle rang out and the Dutch police began closing in around the garden and two of them made a bee line for me, but only stood by and did not interfere. Then two men appeared in the garden, the ex-kaiser and his aide de camp. I prepared my camera for a snap, and just at the very moment I had the strollers carefully focused a fat Dutch hand closed over my lens and held the machine tight. All I could do was to gaze at the two men walking in the garden. They were less than 20 yards from me. The ex-kaiser today is a changed man. He no longer wears that look of severity that formerly characterized him and has given up waxing his mustache. He has the air of a happy go lucky man.
He carries a heavy white beard and wears a heavy Norfolk tweed suit and big brown boots. Daily, he makes the same trip around the gardens, watching and talking to his gardeners and the builders who are erecting outhouses.

Returning to his apartment about 9 o'clock in the morning, the ex-kaiser shuts himself up in his study to read and write. After lunch he takes an other stroll around the grounds.

Since the death of his wife, the ex-kaiser receives no one except his aide de camp. Events in his former monarchy interest him but little and he would be content to live on undisturbed as present, according to members of his entourage.

QUESTION WISDOM OF REPRISALS IN IRISH COMMUNITY

Sir Hamar Greenwood To Discuss Matter With Military.

London, June 2.—The advisability of abandoning official reprisals in Ireland will be discussed immediately by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland and the British commander in chief in Ireland, it was learned today from official sources.

In reply to questions from unionist members of the house of commons, Sir Hamar Greenwood said last night that the government has already decided to discontinue unofficial reprisals, that is, those ordered by army officials of inferior rank, without knowledge of their superiors.

"It has been an open question whether reprisals have been successful," said Sir Hamar.

PREDICTS WAR IS NOT PROBABLE

Charlottesville, Pa., June 2.—The confident prediction that "there never will be a war between the United States and Great Britain" was made today by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, in a speech delivered at the centennial exercises of the University of Virginia.

Ambassador Geddes pointed out the great mutual relations which the two nations have, and expressed confidence that all matters which might lead to misunderstanding can always be cleared.

TO PRESENT DIPLOMAS

Washington, June 2.—President and Mrs. Harding left here by motor shortly after 9 o'clock for Annapolis where the president will present diplomas to the graduates of the naval academy.

ENTIRE SECTION OF TULSA DESTROYED AS RIOTS END

NAVY HERO MAY BE IMMIGRATION
CHIEF AT NEW YORK

financier and yachtsman, who, according to an announcement made by Charles D. Hilles, of the Republican National Committee will be appointed United States Commissioner of Immigration at New York to succeed Frederick Wallis. Mr.
Todd served in the navy during the war, receiving the Navy Cross for his services and the French Legion of Honor. He was credited with being responsible for the improvement made in the Harbor of Brest, France, whereby the handling of ships could be facilitated.

HARDENED CRIMINAL GOES TO HIS DEATH IN PRISON, SMILING

Dick Howell Pays For Murder Of Canton Detective.

Columbus, June 2.—"How many more minutes have I?" asked Dick Howell, 42, smiling as he walked to the electric chair in the penitentiary early this morning.

At 1:09 Richard Howell was declared dead. His death had been ordered by the courts, following conviction of murdering Anthony Skotnicki, Canton detective, last year.
While prison officials were placing Howell in the death chair he told them that the straps adjusted around his legs were too tight. Then he sat back in the chair, smiling and nodding to Warden Thomas.

After the electrocution the warden declared that Howell was the greatest of the 67 men who have met death by electrocution at the Ohio penitentiary.

Howell's last hours on earth were marked by the visitation of his wife and by joining prison chaplain Read and Major Collins, of the volunteers of America, in prayers.

The warden refused to permit
John Skotsnicki brother of the murdered detective to witness the execution.

BUILDING WORKERS IDLE IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, June 2.—Fifteen thousand building trades workers are idle here today, due to their failure to reach an agreement with the builders. Not only that, but they are locked out after June 1. Employment individually, without discrimination as to their membership or non-membership in any labor union or society, said a resolution adopted by the six hundred members of the Pittsburgh Building Trades members.

RUMOR DENIED

New York, June 2.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, today denied a report that Harry Erle has been officially selected as referee of the contest July 2.

"Nothing to it," he said.
"Kearns, Descamps and I talked over the referee matter and decided that the announcement of the referee will be made until about the 15th of June."

BANDITS CRACK SAFE

LIST OF DEAD STANDS AT 77; CALM PREVAILS

Machine Guns Frown At Strategic Points Over City.

DISTRICT IN RUINS

Negro Section Completely Wiped Out After Two Days of Disorder

Tulsa, Okla., June 2.—Business was resumed as usual in Tulsa today following a night of quiet. The militia still paced the streets and martial law continued in effect but there was no disorder and stores and business places, which were barred and bolted yesterday, were open and people appeared on the streets as though Tulsa's day of terror had never happened.

There were no further outbreaks of the race riot which had raged unchecked during the morning hours yesterday and which was only put down by the arrival of the national guard from outside cities.

State troops, acting under the instructions of Major General Charles Barrett, patrolled the entire city during the night. Pedestrians without passes and motor cars, except official vehicles, were barred from the streets between midnight and 6 o'clock this morning. All street car service was discontinued throughout the night.

Theaters and places of amusement were closed early as were a majority of drugstores, soda fountains and cafes.
A check up this morning, showed ten white men to be dead and six of the 35 wounded in hospitals to be in a critical condition. The bodies of 15 negroes were held in various morgues.
Other bodies were brought to the morgues this morning from the ruins of the "black belt" where they had lain untouched since yesterday morning.

Over seventy wounded negroes are reported in hospitals today and more than twenty were not expected to live for 24 hours.

Tulsa, Okla., June 2.—With its known dead standing at 77 and its wounded numbering at least several hundred more, Tulsa is in forced calm today, under the grim menace of machine guns, posted at principal street corners, and points of strategic advantage.

The orgy of rioting, that in two short historical days, has made a smouldering ruin of a large part of the city, is believed to be at an end.
Motor cars filled with armed soldiers and police patrol the streets of the city this morning. Even the approach to the town are heavily guarded, to prevent threatened attacks by outside forces of negroes.

Tulsa is still under the tense strain of the emotions of the past two days, but the more level headed citizens are beginning to take stock. They find that beside the appalling casualty list, the entire negro portion of the city, comprising thirty blocks and that has housed more than 15,000 people, is completely wiped out, hardly the wall of a shanty remaining standing. They compute the property damage at $1,- 500,000 and that the business consequences to the city, through the loss of necessary negro labor, will be ultimately many times that amount.

Rush Medical Assistance

Outside medical assistance is being rushed into Tulsa as the demand upon local hospital accommodations and nursing facilities is overwhelming.
All the city's hospitals are filling to overflowing and emergency relief has been instituted by the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and welfare organizations.

Governor Robertson, who is in personal charge of the situation has announced his purpose of conducting an immediate investigation into the cause of the uprising. The police are making an energetic search for Sarah Page, the girl elevator operator in the Drexel building. An alleged attempt to attack the Page girl by Dick Rowland, a negro, is said to have precipitated the riots.

It is estimated that 6,000 negroes are still under guard in hastily established refuge camps. More than 300 guardsmen have reinforced the local authorities. The guardsmen are still carrying out orders issued by Mayor T. D. Evans, to disarm all civilians.

Local business men have been advised by Adjutant General C. F. Barrett to make preparations to care for those made homeless for at least ten days. It is planned to erect tents and other temporary structures over the devastated area as soon as possible.

ond American wife were officially confirmed here today. The Duke

Boston, but the date has not been fixed. The duke's first wife was

P. Belmont, of New York. Leges incompatibility.

MAN IS ARRESTED; ALLEGED TO HAVE HAD SOME LIQUOR

Tiny Smith, Lynn street, was arrested by the sheriff in the Modern Shoe Repair Shop on West Main street, Thursday morning early and a quantity of home brew confiscated by the officers.

It is alleged that Smith had six bottles of home brew in a small suit case when he was arrested, and that an investigation at his home on Lynn street resulted in the discovery of a case of home brew, eight bottles in an ice box and 40 or 50 empties besides a 20-gallon jar, which it is believed was used to manufacture the brew.

A formal charge had not been placed against Smith until Thursday afternoon and he was released on his own recognizance immediately following the arrest. It is expected that he will be charged with manufacturing liquor.

REACH AGREEMENT ON ORGANIZATION OF LOCAL RED CROSS

A decision to pool all of the county funds of the Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross into one county treasury and the election of governing body or executive committee, consisting of one representative from each branch, was reached at a meeting of the county organization held at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday morning.

Going into session at 10:30 o'clock Thursday, the delegates were in continual session until two o'clock in the afternoon, without stopping for lunch. Representatives were present from Bellbrook, Jamestown, Spring Valley, Bowersville, Xenia, Yellow Springs, Cedarville and Beavercreek townships. Miss Hazel Hart and H. T. Reed, field workers from the Lake Division of the Red Cross, at Cleveland, were speakers at the session.

The meeting was called to attempt to pool the funds and interest of all the county branches into one head, according to the chapter charter, and the point drew fire during the entire session, from outlying branches. The discussion for and against the combining of interests continued through the entire session, questions in point being answered by Mr. Reed and Miss Hart.

The final decision reached amounts to appointment of executive committee an act which will probably take place soon, containing a representative from each township branch, and which will be the final governing body of the entire Greene County Chapter, to which all present township branches are answerable. On the motion of the Rev. George C. Foltz, of Bowersville, it was agreed to pool the funds of the entire county with the one county treasury in Xenia, which is according to the Charter, but which has not been carried out here. During the present year the branches will only turn into the county treasurer the money they will not need to finish their work under way, and after this year, the money will go directly to the chapter headquarters in this city, from which the entire county organization will be operated.

MOON CASE. DRAWS BIG CROWD TO COURT

A morbid crowd of spectators packed the Common Pleas Court room Thursday, to hear the testimony in the case of Keith Moon, of Jamestown, charged with bastardy by Mary Sessler, of that village.

By noon, the plaintiffs attorneys had rested their case, and the testimony of the defense was taken up in the afternoon. Moon was called on the stand by his attorney to answer charges made by the plaintiff during the afternoon session of court.

The case is being heard before Judge R. L. Gowdy and a jury consisting of C. P. Beal, H. H. Dice, W. O. Bullock, L. H. Atkinson, E. M. Burrell, T. W. St. John, O. D. Tobias, Arthur Cummings, Owen Staatsman, Paul P. Beam, C. M. Austin and D. M. Kenyon.

Judge Marcus Shoop is attorney for the plaintiff, who is the mother of a baby born last fall, which toddled about in court during the trial and Moon is represented by Attorney F. L. Johnson. The spectators' side of the court room was packed all day of the crowd containing both men and women, and many Jamestown people.

TO OPPOSE CLAIM TO ALL GERMAN SHIPPING IS WORD

Washington, June 2.—The administration will instantly and decidedly oppose any attempt to the part of the allied reparations commission to lay claim to the German shipping which was taken over by the United States in American ports when we entered the war.

This was made plain in official quarters today, in relation to reports cabled from Paris that the reparations commission probably will "take up" the question of whether the United States should not be called upon to pay for these seized German ships.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA SHOULD "PULL TOGETHER" BECAUSE OF MUTUAL ADVANTAGE.

Ambassador Harvey's first speech in England has been warmly praised and severely criticised. There is general approval, however, among thinking men of both parties of his statement that the United States desires to co-operate with Great Britain in handling the big tasks of modern civilization. It is all the easier to agree on this because the ambassador did not base the desire either on abstract idealism or on community of race and institutions but on utility and common sense.

"My country," he told the British, "stands ready to work with yours because, first, it is to our own interest to do so, and, secondly, because it is to the advantage of both."

This is the simple truth which all the mischievous propaganda in the world can not pervert or conceal. It is not a new truth, either. Friendly co-operation with Great Britain has long been the established policy of the United States, in spite of demagogic misrepresentations and efforts to stir up old animosities between the two countries. For half a century the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812 and the minor unpleasantnesses of the Civil War have been forgotten by sensible statesmen, who had a fairly clear notion of the spirit and purpose of the two countries and saw that their destinies ought to follow parallel lines instead of crossing and thwarting each other.

It is more important for the Americans and the British to stand together today than ever before in their history. Our harmonious relations with France are based mainly on sentiment. That is all right as far as it goes. But in the case of Great Britain along with sentiment—and there is a good deal of it—there is hard fact.

Here are two great nations, each superior in some ways and inferior in others, but, roughly speaking, of somewhere near equal power in the world; two nations of common language and literature, common history, similar political and social institutions, similar ideals. Despite trivial differences, Americans find it easier to understand and work with the British, in any part of the world, than with any other race whatsoever. The British find it the same with Americans.

Here is civilization grown very shaky, with the future full of uncertainty, and with a vast amount of half-civilization spread over the world, to be shaped in the future by whatever civilized powers and ideals are dominant.

America and Britain, together, can literally guide the world, for their own safety and the good of mankind, spreading their own enlightened ideals and keeping down international rows largely by sheer force of influence. Nothing is to be thought of in the way of a formal alliance, but the highest interests of both country and of the majority of mankind point to a good working understanding between them, now and hereafter.

WE WERE SO BUSY "FIXING THE WORLD," WE NEGLECTED ALASKA.

Three brains are to be used by the Harding Administration in arriving at a stable policy for the conduct of Alaskan affairs. President Harding personally intends to acquaint himself with the resources of the vast territory, and he is to have the first-hand assistance of Albert B. Fall, Secretary of the Interior, and Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy.

The President believes with many other persons that Alaska can become a great field for development and for the use of the surplus capital which abounds in the United States. It is well understood there are few things the President wants to do more than to visit the Territory for a personal inspection of its resources, and to investigate the complaints of mismanagement and waste in Government, through bureaucratic control, as brought to the attention of Congress.

Mr. Fall, as the Cabinet member charged with the administration of Alaska, is urging the President to make the trip in the belief that it will be easier to plan and put through legislation after Mr. Harding has been convinced the resources are there and only waiting to be brought out. Mr. Denby plans to visit the territory this summer.

In view of the triple inspection tour which Alaska is facing it is thought extremely probable in Washington that nothing will be done definitely in the way of Alaskan legislation until after the three members of the Administration have had opportunity to obtain first-hand information which can be placed at the disposal of Congress in the shape of reports, or used by President Harding in informing his supporters in Congress what he believes would be the best course to follow.

Secretary Fall, it is known, feels that Alaska is one of the great problems, and perhaps the most important which the new Administration has to settle. The Territory has been suffering, in his opinion, from the lack of any well-formulated policy for its development, and he is giving much study to that rich section with the idea uppermost of determining some scheme whereby its riches may be developed to bring greatest results.

THE ONE TOPIC.

I'd like to talk of books and writers, of literary stars, but all the town is full of blighters who talk of motor cars. I see a bunch of guys conversing, and I proceed that way, and in my mind I am rehearsing the things I mean to say. I'll show that authors of the present make fiction a disease; they do not make their endings pleasant, their heroes hint of cheese. But men won't listen to my talking, my views they don't desire; they speak of cylinder a-knocking, and sparkplugs missing fire. They have a jargon pestiferous that jars my soul, by jings; it treats of gears and differential, and cantilever springs. They care no hoot if art's receding from her accustomed spot, or if the modern books we're reading show symptoms of dry rot. Connecting rods and tubes pistons engage their domes of thought; I say wise things but no one listens, and I am sore distraught. The bookish world is taken, such innovations rise, and would speak of Francis Johnson and such guys; but nothing of that nature boys who make their spids, concerning patent dry sleeve valves and steering wheels.

BOTH HOUSEHOLDS OUGHT TO GET TOGETHER FOR A WASHING BEE

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Quite an interesting checker tournament occurred at Steinmetz's cigar store last evening. Messrs Lyons and Weber, two of Dayton's crack players came over to spend the evening with the Xenia players and they were met on about equal ground. Wolf, Feurle and Cook did the playing for Xenia. The result was an even thing.

Three strangers who were drunk and disorderly this morning were locked up at police headquarters. They were too drunk and too stubborn to give any names by which they could be slated.

The new heating station for the court house which is being constructed on the lot occupied by the sheriff is now ready for the roof and the work has been begun on the big smoke stack which will be of brick, octagon shaped and will tower up in the air for a distance of about 70 feet.

The finishing touches are being put on an automobile which has been built by Mr. Jacob Baldner, and which has been purchased by a party at North Lewisburg. The Xenia Buggy Company is equipping the new machine with a top and it will be taken by Mr. Baldner to the purchaser.

The cornice which is being placed on the Court House is giving that structure a hand some appearance. The work of placing the iron for the roof structure will be begun in a short time. Stone cutters are busy getting out decorative pieces for the various parts of the building.

"HIDING" THEY NEARLY DIED

Turn Over
Day to Day
Shelf Warmers
You See Pictures
The Average Man

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

The advertising columns of the newspapers today are like a huge public market.

It is just as if the goods were displayed where you could actually see them—you see pictures, you read descriptions, you note prices. What does this mean to the housewife and the average man?

It means that constantly changing conditions in prices and in market conditions are being reflected every day in the advertisements you see daily in this and other newspapers.

For instance, following the end of the war, changes back to original forms and good old prices have been made in many products that during the war had to be substantially altered, because of the difficulty in securing certain materials.

It is a fact that some of the non-advertised products of this sort are still on the shelves of dealers, because non-advertised goods move slowly than advertised ones, and such goods as are not apt to be up to date.

However, if you will study the advertisements from day to day, you will know just which merchandise is keeping up to date and is of the best material and sold at the lowest price.

If instead of keeping yourself informed by reading advertising you go to the store and simply take what you find on the shelves or in the showcase you are apt to secure something that is not of the very latest style, made of the best materials now available, and sold at the low price now possible where goods are advertised and are "turned over" a great many times a year in the dealer's stock.

Turnover is the reason why advertised goods are usually a better value for you—the dealer's stock is replaced frequently, and so he constantly gets newer and fresher goods, and you and he profit by the very latest price reductions.

For non-advertised goods, which sometimes are "stickers" and "shelf warmers," you are apt to pay more, because the price has never come down since the end of the war—and the goods cannot be as fresh nor as up to date in material and style as those which are advertised and are in constant demand.

"BROADWAY RASTUS" CAUSES FAVORABLE COMMENT IN PRESS

"Broadway Rastus," one of the biggest all-colored musical shows on the road, and proportionally successful, will be the attraction at the Opera House Monday and Tuesday, June 6 and 7, through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

The troupe is now playing at the Lyceum Theater Columbus, where the Columbus Dispatch dramatic critic says that it is "eclipsing any other musical comedy that has come to the Lyceum in recent months." Crowds at Lyceum are vociferously welcoming the colored entertainers, it is said.

The critic continues: "Emmet Anthony, who quite outdoes any minstrel and men we have ever seen, drew the major share of applause throughout. Producers, comedian and singer, Irvin C. Miller, the elongated Rastus, gave us a characterization of a bashful boy that will linger in our memory. We were truly amazed at the vocal powers and sweetness of tone displayed by Anita Wilkins, prima donna, and while right at present we can make no comparison, we venture to say that her voice is the best on the Lyceum stage in many months."

Is It Yours?

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF THOMAS HARDY June 2, 1840

One of the best known novelists of both this and the last generation is Thomas Hardy, who was born in England more than 80 years ago.

He spent most of his early life in that Southwestern part of England about which he has written so beautifully. He was put under an ecclesiastical architect in Dorsetshire which meant that he had to spend most of his time sketching and measuring the old Dorset churches that were to be restored. Meantime he was writing verse and essays and for a long time was undecided whether to become a novelist or architect.

That he became a novelist was due mostly to the advice of George Meredith, one of the first to see Hardy's gift for writing. Probably the most popular of his books are "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" and "Far from the Madding Crowd," which was his first popular success. "Jude the Obscure" is called his most thoughtful and least popular book. He has succeeded in doing one thing which gives him almost a unique place in literature—that of appealing to both intellectual and uneducated people.

He writes almost entirely of the Southwestern part of England. He made a map of his fiction country. Many other writers, adopted his country and his names, and also began writing tales of the towns and villages he created on paper. The Order of Merit was conferred on him some years ago, a rare and very great honor in England.

Practical Business Talks

ADVERTISING FINDS SALES.

What salesman would not give his eye teeth to be permitted to make his business call on a prospect in the evening, at the prospect's home, when business cares are laid aside and the mind receptive?

That is what advertising does.

This, too, in addition to the fact that an advertisement, particularly in a daily newspaper, has the scope of an army of salesmen, each calling on a separate prospect at the same time.

Yet personal solicitation and advertising are Siamese Twins. Advertising sows the demand for an article.

The personal salesman clinches the order.

Only in rare cases can the two work separately. One helps the other.

Obviously, the more extensive the advertising appeal, the more prospective customers for the personal salesman to work upon.

Business never gets in such bad shape that there is not some business for the concern that can find it.

Advertising is the searchlight to do the finding.

Times of depression call for intensified selling effort.

That is why the personal salesman is most in demand when business is dull.

That is why depression is the logical time to exert the greatest advertising effort—to get what business exists, and to pave the way for the future, for normal times.

Our neighboring planets turn out to be gabby old things. Scientists inform us that there is no doubt they have been sending us wireless messages of such importance that they have juzzed our own little wireless communication all us, so that when a Bolshevik wireless from Russia, telling of the thirty-fourth execution of General Hitenuski is speeding to us, it is apt to be interrupted by a query from Venus for a quotation on Jack Rose cocktails.

Was it Uranus or Saturn that tried to get us the other evening to ask, "Who murdered Joe Elwell?"

A celebrated Italian inventor who has had much to do with the perfecting of the wireless says he has heard several strange messages, and is now trying to trace them down. Only the other day somebody tried to butt in on his radio waves in a language he could not understand and a code that was unknown. He will probably indignantly deny that it was a message from the supreme council trying to explain a certain passage of the treaty to the Herzegovinian government.

At any rate, it appears that the earth is not going to enjoy its splendid isolation much longer. Splendid isolations seem to have gone out of style. Everybody has to mix up in everybody else's business. We have no kick on that in this country. We started it during the past eight years, ourselves.

NEWS NOTES—MOVIELAND

Colleen Moore, pretty, chic and colorful, has been analyzing her friends, the public, lately.

Miss Moore, who is appearing in Marshall Neilan productions, is at present in New York in the leading feminine role of "The Lotus Eaters."

starting John Barrymore. While there she says she has discovered:

"The G. O. P. (meaning Good Old Public and not Grand Old Party) likes beauty on the screen. It may be very appreciative of good acting, but that there must be one or two beautiful girls in the picture to really please the fans."

"The G. O. P. likes the close-up and that it sighs deep, adoring, heart-felt sighs when the heroine or hero appears in a close-up with a good strong back light for a halo. While it may criticize too many close-ups, a picture without one or two is as much of a failure as a Sunday breakfast without coffee."

"The story—oh, my goodness, here the dear public doesn't seem to know what it wants at all. It likes this and doesn't like that and is bored to tears with the other; but one thing it must have, and that is a love story."

"The public must be in love all the time, for it just pines for sentiment and romance. It seems to be always wanting more and more of the love theme and a play without it simply languishes and dies."

Miss Moore declares she has made the above observations from a chair in a picture show and that she knows what she knows, absolutely.

NINETY PER CENT OF CRIME CAUSED BY MERE YOUTHS

"Ninety per cent of the crime of the present is committed by boys between the ages of 16 and 25," was the statement of James Welch, ex-sheriff and Commissioner-elect of Clark county, Springfield, at the afternoon session of the Greene County Sunday School Association, held at the Reformed Church Tuesday.

Much progress was made at the three sessions of the conference, and every phase of developing Christian education was discussed at the meeting.

Officers of the county organization were elected at the afternoon session. They were: J. P. Hastings, president; W. P. Harriman, Cedarville, Vice president; J. Harry Nagley, treasurer; Mr. Gordon, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Blair, head of the Adult division; Rev. E. W. Middleton, educational; members of the executive board: Dr. V. F. Brown, Douglas Custis and H. C. Aultman.

Reports of the 73 township districts were made by delegates at the afternoon session. In the financial report, it was found that $200 had been received to be forwarded to the $300 fund that is to be used in the interest of the state convention. Each Sunday school member of the county was asked to contribute ten cents to the fund.

"Religious Education in Week Day Schools," an address given by Rev. Wilbur A. Vorhis, of Greenville, Ohio, was well received during the afternoon session. Two strong points were brought out in Rev. Vorhis's address, first, that Bible teaching should enter into the regular school schedule of the Week Day Schools, and that this instruction should be given equal credit with the other subjects.

The addresses given at the final sessions were well delivered and received. Especially interesting was that of Rev. Middleton at the afternoon meeting, on the subject of Community Training Schools, which was illustrated by the use of a blackboard. The four elements that go to make a successful teacher, were given by Rev. Middleton, who sought to bring forth the needs of thorough Bible education. They were: courage, sincerity, enthusiasm and purpose.

Three addresses were featured during the evening program, as a final point of interest to the convention. The first was that of Miss Rose Demerest, State Children's Division Superintendent. Miss Demerest's charming manner made her one of the most interesting of those who appeared on the program.

The final address was given by Mr. W. C. Moore, on "Wanted a Manufacturing Plant," which further illustrated the need of efficient teachers in the Sunday Schools.

A choir of 30 voices from Zion Baptist Church, with piano and violin and directed by Miss Goodin, rendered several selections.

The convention has been stated as being both progressive and interesting, a large number of out-of-town people attending.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Mr. James H. Ayres, who suffered for many years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Sayre & Hemphill have been appointed agents for Allenhu in this vicinity with the turn the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.

GAS--

Help Save It!

"Domestic consumers waste more than 80 per cent of the gas received," according to a bulletin by the United States Bureau of Mines.

Much of this needless and costly waste in the homes is caused by improperly adjusted appliances, by burners more than one and one-quarter inches below the cooking vessel, by solid top cook stoves, by out-of-date furnaces and the ordinary water heating tank.

These wastes cost you money. You can prevent them by learning how to adjust appliances properly. We will be glad to help you.

Take time now to look at your gas cooking stove. If the burners are more than one and one-quarter inches below the cooking vessel you probably are wasting 80 per cent of the gas you pay for.

You can stop this waste by having the burners of your stove raised.

Improperly adjusted and dirty appliances result in imperfect combustion and great wastes. Make sure that all burners are cleaned often and are properly adjusted.

Solid top cook stoves are wasteful and inefficient. Grid top or skeleton lids only should be used.

Gas burners used in coal furnaces or stoves waste 75 per cent of the gas. Only specially built gas furnaces with an efficiency of at least 75 per cent should be used.

Ordinary water tank heaters with burners underneath are large wasters of gas. All such tanks should be enclosed in a jacket of galvanized tin covered with asbestos paper with openings at the top.

Visit the demonstration being put on at our office by the United States Bureau of Mines and get first hand information on how to stop these wastes.

ANTIOCH STARTS COMMENCEMENT ON SUNDAY EVENING

The annual commencement exercises at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, which begin next Sunday evening with the Academy Baccalaureate, are especially significant this year, with the last exercises of that nature under the old regime at Antioch.

Next fall the new and modern co-operative system of education will go into effect and Antioch will begin its session with a much larger faculty and a much larger curricula and range of power in educational circles.

The academy baccalaureate which begins the exercises will be preached by the Rev. Charles Ryan Adams, pastor of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, Springfield, Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock and will start the program of closing exercises.

On the following Thursday, June 9 the concert by the music department will be given, and the Academy Commencement exercises will be held on Friday, June 10, W. W. Boyd, president of Western College at Oxford, delivering the Commencement address.

John M. Davidson, of this city, will be speaker at the celebration of the anniversary of the Union Literary Society, which will be held Saturday, June 11. On Sunday, June 12, the College baccalaureate sermon will be given at two o'clock in the afternoon by Frank D. Slutz. Head Master of the Moraine Park School, Dayton. The anniversary of the Star Literary Society will be held Monday evening, June 13, at 7:30 o'clock, with the address by Louise Abbott of Bethel, Ohio. Catherine Shank, a reader of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., is also on the program.

The annual trustees' meeting will be held Tuesday morning, June 14, at 9:30 o'clock and Tuesday evening June 14, at 5:30, the Alumni and Old Students Dinner will be held in the College hall dining room. Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch will speak on the subject "Antioch of the Future."

An open lecture will be held under the auspices of the Alumni Association, Tuesday evening, June 14 at 8:15 o'clock. The lecture will be given by Edwin F. Gay, of New York, president of the New York Evening Post, who is also a trustee of Antioch.

Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, will deliver the address to the graduating class at the College Commencement exercises to be held Wednesday morning, June 15, at ten o'clock. The Commencement dinner will be held at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the College dining hall, and in the afternoon of the same day at 3 o'clock, the Varsity and Alumni baseball teams will clash. The reception for graduates will be held Wednesday evening from 8 o'clock until 10.

A petition for permission to purchase the Springfield-Xenia Telephone Company was filed Wednesday by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company with the state public utilities commission.

Although coming while the proposed merger of the Ohio State Telephone Company with the Ohio Bell Telephone Company is pending, the proposed purchase is in no way connected with the merger it is said. The Springfield-Xenia known here as the Citizens line, is a part of the Ohio State system.

Last summer a petition was filed with the utilities commission asking permission for the Springfield-Xenia company to be merged with the Ohio Bell company, then the Central Union telephone company. Since then the Ohio State-Ohio Bell merger has been up, although obstructed temporarily by obstacles encountered in the federal law.

The application for permission to merge with the Springfield-Xenia company is said to be the forerunner of a series of mergers with independent companies. Appraisals of the Springfield-Xenia Telephone company show the property, including plants, wires and cables to be worth $829,291.99 and its reproduction value $1,104,429.71. Evidence submitted by the Ohio Belle Telephone Company in applying for permission to purchase, places its value at $1,109,118.60.

Hearings on all phases of the proposed merger including stated valuations have been ordered by the public utilities commission. Manager Charles Cross of the local branch of the Springfield-Xenia company, said he knew nothing of the proposed purchase when questioned Thursday.

The purchase and merger it is believed will do away with two telephone companies operating in this community after the merger, all Greene County telephone facilities will be under control of one company. In Xenia it will mean the abolishment of one telephone exchange and the combination of facilities.

Month of Brides and Flowers Ushered In On Wednesday

Wednesday was the first day of June. The spring lamb has grown into a lamb chop by this time.

The annual house-cleaning adventure is past and forgotten. The sound of the lawn-mower is now familiar music. The new wall paper already has a couple of spots on it behind the door. The new paint on the screen door is getting dull, the June bugs that always come in May, are almost extinct. It is now almost time for the May fly, which, born in the morning of a hot summer day, wears itself out in a pandemonium of pleasure seeking and dies ere sun down.

With June, also comes the human fly, the professional pleasure-sipper, ever seeking the honey of summer amusement. The park pavilions, the picnics with mosquito bites, the buzzing fans, the cool drinks, and the fat man, who always looks hot, and is really hotter than he looks.

With June, comes the god Cupid, in his summer costume of bow, arrow and smile, and his valued aide Romance. The piercing of hearts, the mercenary license clerk, the perspiring preacher and the knot itself.

They will be tied up this June as they have been tied up in other Junes. They wait for June because it is generally a pretty month. Then flowers can be used to form the bridal altar, and there can be outdoor matrimonial alliances and such.

And so June, this year, will undoubtedly again see its quota of weddings. That is why June is always happy. It sees only the connubial bliss of the newly-wed. The marital disturbances that flick the sea of matrimony do not come until later. Bleak November, bleak December and bleakest January or February, are witnesses to the separation.

The summer vaudeville hero loudly chortles, "What is so rare as a day in June?" and the fan in the gallery shouts back "a drink out of the wood."

And so this is June, when May June bugs die, and June May flies are born.

TALBOT ESTATE IS VALUED AT THREE MILLION DOLLARS

An estate of approximately three million dollars was left by Henry E. Talbot, Dayton business man who died in Florida late in the winter, to his wife Katherine H. Talbot, who is also executrix according to the inventory and appraisal just filed.

An inheritance tax of about $100,000 will be paid on the estate, according to estimates, of which the state will receive one-half and the village of Oakwood, the majority of the rest of this inheritance tax, because of the fact that part of the estate consists of 1,152 acres in Greene County, valued at $112,000. It is estimated that the County's share of the inheritance tax will total more than $2,000.

The property in this county is situated near Indian Riffle, and consists of considerable farming land and includes a pheasant farm. The inventory shows $15,750.05 in cash; $2,761,761.83 in stocks and securities; personal property amounting to $41,068.08 on the farm in Greene county and $33,750 in other real estate.

The appraisers were Rufus S. Jones, James M. Markham and Edward D. Grimes.

DEMONSTRATION ON GAS CONSERVATION WILL BE GIVEN

A demonstration on the "Conservation of Gas," will be given at the offices of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company, South Detroit street, Thursday and Friday, by Miss Elfritz, of Columbus, who is an expert in the work of conservation.

It is estimated now that fully 70 per cent of the gas used, is wasted, much of it through improper burners placed too far from cooking utensils, and in other ways.

Because of the present shortage of gas, housewives are being urged to conserve it as much as possible, in order that natural gas does not become extinct in this territory. Miss Elfritz is from the Bureau of Mines, an authority on gas consumption and loss, and her demonstration will be both interesting and practical. While here she will work in conjunction with women's clubs and organizations.

COURT NEWS

Jury Favors Defendant

The jury in Common Pleas Court in the case of Drs. W. H. and R. K. Finley against Edward Hunt, returned a verdict favoring the defendant, when it fixed a judgment of $50 instead of the $100 pleaded in the petition of the plaintiffs, Thursday.

The plaintiffs sued to collect a bill of $100 which they claimed was due from the defendant for medical treatment given a boy injured by the defendant's automobile. Attorney C. L. Darlington, represented the plaintiffs and Judge Marcus Shoup the defendants.

William T. Lee of Yellow Springs, recently removed by the court as executor of the estate of William H. Ault and replaced by Susan Cox, and who was charged with contempt of court by attorneys H. D. Smith and Judge Marcus Shoup for failure to file his final account as executor and turn over his papers to the new executor has filed his account and complied with the order of Probate Court. In doing so he filed an answer with Probate Judge J. Carl Marshall showing why he should not be held for contempt of court, and the prosecuting parties withdrew the charge and the contempt proceedings were dismissed by the court. Lee was given ten days by the court to comply with the order and when he had not done so in the required time, the charges were filed against him.

WOMAN SICK FOUR YEARS

Steens, Miss.—"I was all run down and nervous with female trouble and my sides pained me so at times that I could hardly walk. I suffered for four years with it. Then I saw your advertisement in the papers and began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel stronger and am able to do most of my housework now. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use this letter if you care to do so."

How many women, overworked, tired and ailing, keep up the ceaseless treadmill of their daily duties until they are afflicted with female troubles as Mrs. Blake was, and are run down, weak and nervous. But every such woman should be convinced by the many letters like hers which we are constantly publishing, proving beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will overcome such troubles and restore women to normal health and strength.

About your health will be given attention and held in strict confidence to Lydia E. Pinkham's Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

IRENE ADDS FUEL TO THE FIRE
Chapter 57
I couldn't help but wonder what Margaret wanted of Keith, so when she grumbled at me because she wanted to talk with him, I replied.

"He must have gone out immediately after we stopped talking."

"I should think you would have talked yourselves out! You walked to the station with him, didn't you?"

"Yes. I shall go with him whenever he is here." Gloria had told me Mrs. De Lisle had accompanied him on his short walk every time he had gone to town. "And you had plenty of time to tell him what you wished before he left as well as I—perhaps."

"It's very easy for you to be disagreeable, Vera!" She said, then swept away from me with her haughtiest expression and manner.

Later I knew she called Keith again. "Mamma is planning a sailing party for Wednesday night," Irene said. "A moonlight party. Won't you tease her to let me go. Aunt Vera? I'm old enough to go some places, and she never takes me."

"It wouldn't do any good, dear, and you aren't old enough for moonlight parties."

"I was going to tell you what I heard Mrs. De Lisle say, but now I shan't, because you want tease mamma to let me go."

"Very well, dear. You must do as you please. I think your mother is right. You are much too young. Why, I never have been sailing in the moonlight and I am a married woman."

"You aren't old! And I guess if that horrid Mrs. De Lisle can go you can."

"What makes you dislike her, Irene? Because she talks about you, and because she tells mother that little pitchers have big ears and never lets her talk when I am around." Irene was a very inquisitive child, but quite very different from Gloria.

I waited, knowing I should hear more.

"She told mamma that it would be no fun going sailing now you had come back. And mamma said she would fix it so you wouldn't go."

for her not to worry. I don't see what she means. I think you are a lot of fun, and I'd rather go places with you than anyone I know.

"Thank you dear. Now be a good girl and forget about going to grown-up parties and I will play a game of tennis with you." I felt that nothing but physical exercise, strenuous exercise would keep the tears back.

"All right, Aunt Vera, I will be good, but I wish I would hurry and grow up. I'm tired being a little girl and being told I can't do things."

"Grown people don't always do what they want either, Irene."

"They can if they want to!"

"Sometimes it isn't right."

"But if they do it there isn't anyone but God to punish them, because grown up people aren't punished. It's only kiddies that are punished by fathers and mothers."

"Be glad you are a kiddie, Irene. You will grow up soon enough." I wanted to add, "and have grownup troubles," but refrained.

We played tennis for an hour then went in.

Margaret was chatting animatedly with Mrs. De Lisle and Mrs. Green, the woman who owned the house. I had met her the night I arrived, but had not seen her since to speak with. She called to me.

"Come in, Mrs. Sanderson, you'll be interested in your sister's plan I am sure."

Margaret frowned, but I immediately joined them, Irene dragging on my hand.

"What is it, Margaret? What plan have you?" I asked as pleasantly as I could, sure that it had something to do with what Irene had told me.

"We are planning a sailing party. Mrs. Sanderson," Mrs. Greene answered for her, then apologized. "Mrs. De Lisle has had most of the sailing to herself. But now the water is smoother, and we thought a moonlight party would be delightful. What do you think?"

"It is a charming plan, but Margaret always has delightful ideas. When do you propose having the party?"

"Wednesday night. We must take advantage of the weather," vouchsafed Mrs. Green.

"It is too bad Keith won't be here." I looked at Margaret.

"Keith will be here. He has promised me he will come." An air of bravado, mixed with conquest over me, was manifest in Margaret's voice.

"That is nice!" I would not allow Mrs. De Lisle or Mrs. Green to think I knew Margaret was crowing over me, as father would have said—that she had made Keith come down when I would have failed.

"Indeed it is!" Mrs. Green said enthusiastically. "A sailing party would be incomplete without Mr. Sanderson; wouldn't it, Mrs. De Lisle?"
